School House Burglarized.

The patrons of the Shellabarger sub-district school, near Knon, this county, were apprised on Thursday morning of this week of the depredations of some amateur burglars upon the school house and property, committed Wednesday night. The lock on the door of the building was broken, the place entered.

the books scattered, and furniture disarranged. The intention seems not to have been to plunder but simply to despoil, but the directors are determined to visit the vengeance of the law upon the criminals, and will liberally reward any who will procure evidence leading to the arrest and conviction of the parties. The school is taught by H. E. Bogges, of this city. Judge West and General Robinson passed through the city this morning, returning home from Columbus.

The Adventists Preach and Pray and

At 5 o'clock this morning the camp was all astir at the ringing of the bell for rising. At 30 three different meetings were held, one in the large pavilion for prayer and conference, a children and young people's meeting I in the children's tent, and a meeting of the ministers for prayer and consultation. A slight shower tell during the meeting hour.

At P o'clock nearly all in the camp assembled at the large tabernacie for a Sabbath school, this being the day kept by the adventists as the Sabbath of the Lord. The teach ers of the classes came to the tenta listle before the time of beginning the ITALIAN VASES. school, and were assigned their places by the ushers. To see the hundreds of scholars all intensely engaged in the study of God's word was truly a beautiful sight. The school was superintended by Eld. O. J. Mason, president of the state Sabbath school association. A heavy shower during the progress of the are on exhibition at Leuty's palace ment school did not inconvenience the school any, except to prevent the ready hearing of the

At the close of the Sabbath school, a short intermission was given, and then all assemblud to hear a discourse from Eld. R. A. Underwood. After appropriate singing and prayer by Eld. Van Horn, the speaker disoursed from Rev. 7, 1-6.

The words of the text indicated a work to to to the earth at some time in the future. Four angels are represented as standing on the four corners of the earth beholding the four winds. Winds, in prophecy are symbols of war, strife, and political commotion. Proof, Jer. 25, 29, 33. Just before the close of time, all the elements of war are to be let cose; but before that time, a work of sealing God's people is brought to view, as symboliz-ed in the text by an angel sealing God's people in their torcheads with the seal of the living God.

The speaker dwelt a few moments on the subject of God's seal. He showed that a seal is something attached to a law to show its validity. Without it a law is worthless. God has a seal, and that seal is found in his law as is shown by [-a, 8, 16; "Seal the law among my disciples." The seal has been removed, and God's people are called on to estore it. The speaker then showed that God's real or sign is the Sabbath, as proven by Ez. 31: 17, Exe. 20: 12, 20. It is the sign to his people and to the world that God is the Creator. God sign to appeals to the fact of his having created the beavens and earth, to distinguish himself com the false gods of the heathen. Jer. 10 10-12. Acts 17, 23 27. So, seconding to the words of the text, a special work is to go to the earth to restore God's seal to his law. The number that receive the seal is 144 000 These are atterward seen standing on Mount Zion in God's kingdom, and it is said of them that they are "without fault before the throne of God." Rev. 14, 1. This shows that those who are engaged in the work of restoring God's seal must perfect holy characters. This agrees with Eph. 5:27, which says that Christ's church must be "without spot or wrinkle or ary such thing." The Adventist people be-lieve they are giving the last closing message to the world, which is symbolized by th ealing work of the angel brought to view in How important then that all who believe the closing message should put away every sin. The speaker then referred to Isa. is to show that God's people are faulty in ome respects, and that they need to repent The first verse says, "Cry sloud, spare lift up thy voice like a trumpet, and show my people their transgressions."

God's people are here addressed, and no the worldlings. Many protessed Christians are always finding fault with their brethren and if it is persisted in it will be one mean of shutting us out of God's kingdom. If the conditions brought to view in this chapter are complied with, then the Lord says our light shall rise in obscurity, and shall be as the monday. Our righteousness shall go before us, and the Glory of the Lord shall be our rearward. It we only get into the light, our influence will be for good wherever we are. Something more than keeping the Sabbath is needed, patience, love, humility, tender compassion, and all the Christian graces are required to fit us for a place in God's kingdom.

All should have a willingness to labor for God, at any cost to ourselves. Calls are coming in from every direction for laborers in he vineyard. How shall these calls be sup-

Many could go forth to labor for God if the Lord would but touch their lips with the live coal from off the altar. Then many could say, as did the prophet Isaiah, "Here am I, send me." I will go and trust in God to give the increase. I will bear burdens, only let me be honored by being connected with thy work, O God. As the professed people of God we need great power to enable us to move hard hearts that are dead in sin. We need the spirit of the living God, that His work may not be marred in our hands. many study their own convenience, and are not willing to go without the camp bearing the reproach as did the Saviour of the world.

Tonight at 7 o'clock Elder G. G. Rupert, of Kentucky, will speak on the subject the Millennium. On Sunday forenoon, afternoon and night there will be preaching services: 10:30 a.m., 2:30 and 7 p. m., are the hours for service

Thos. W. Keene.

Since his debut as a star in Chicago six years ago. Keene has engaged much of the attention of the American patrons of the stage, who have watched his progress with uncommon interest; and it is safe to say they find no reason to think that he has fallen short of the promise of that opening performance. He has played in all the principal cities of the south and west, and everywhere received unmistable evidence of popular ta vor. Of his work, an old dramatic critic writes: "Those who have seen Keepe from his first season and in every character in his repertoire, will admit that he is an actor of no ordinary ability. Perno other on the Amerihape can stage can so completely sink his indentity in the part he assumes. Keene is almost free from objectionable mannerisms, and his perfect command of voice and mobility of face make it all but imposible for the spec tator to recognize the Macbeth of today in the Gioster of yesterday. It is not Keene the actor, one sees, but Keene's conception of the part; and while that conception may not accord with ours, we can but admire its intelligence and the art with which it is interpreted. One of the most enthusiastic of Keene's admirers has written that his faults were only spets on the sun. Another said that he fished upon the world like a meteor but to remain a fixed star; and, less the exaggeration, this is to a great extent true.

Mr. Keene will appear at Black's opera house this evening, as Macbeth, and no doubt will meet with a warm reception.

NEW CARLISLE.

NEW CARLISSE, Oct. 1, 1885,-Rev. W. R. Dille will be here next Sabbath a week, to mesist Dr. VanCleve in holding protracted meetings in the M. E. church. They anticipate going on for some time with the meet-ing. Mr. Dille is a powerful revivalist.— The choir of the Presbyterian church has adopted Paimer's book of anthems for use. This is an excellent work, used in many of the best choirs. It will no doubt be the means of a new era in the choir. Rev. H. Brown, who is to preach in the Presbyterian church tomorrow morning and even-ing, is one of the leading preachers of the denomination.—The brick work on the school house lacks but one scaffold height of the square. Although the house is not progressing as rapidly as was anticipated, still we think it will be ready for school by the first of January. After it is completed it will be the finest school bouse in th's county, as well as the most modern — Mr. C. H. Neff, cashier of the New Carlisle bank, has recently purchased a fine team of Arabian ponies which as a team outstrip any-thing in this section for beauty and fleatness.

We are informed that they cost about $700.

—The school enumeration as taken by the ammittee on enumeration shows 416 pupila gain of 45 per cent. within three years. Also by the same party it is shown that by actual count the population of the village is 1,517, a gain since 1880 of 86 per cent.— The masonic order here has had quite a number of accessions within the past year, and are looking forward to a revival of the lodge to its former prominence, which needs no comment.

Sunday Evening at Black's.

The Indianapolis Journal says Hildebrand, the once noted cutlaw, but now reformed, exhibited his grand cryptogram of prison lite in English's Opera House last evening. The house was packed, ever sent taken, the galleries fairly swinging with boys; over 2,000 people. The largest audience everations time in the opera house. He holds his immedse audiences spell-bound and fairly riveted to their seats for two and one-half hours. Tickets for the above entertainment are Ehrenbart's Establishment Thronged at His Opening.

J. E. Ehrenbart, the popular and well-known milliner of 19 East Main street, has been meeting with great success with his fall opening of bats and bonnets that commenced Thursday and continued yesterday and today. The store has been thronged most of the time many and numerous in preise of his magnificent display of hats, bonnets, trimmings, tips, plumes, birds, wings, intants' ware, and many other things pertaining to the millinery trade, too numerous to mention. Upon approaching the mammoth establishment of Mr. Ehrenhart one's gaze is drawn to the large show window, that contains many stylish hats and bonnets that are

The large show case to the right of the en-trance stands erect, as though proud of its exerious contents. The interior of the store is decorated in the most gorgeous manner with ribbons, velvets and trimmings suspended from the ceiling. Among the displays in the show cases that are most prominent is one of feathers, tips, wings and birds. In another may be seen bolts of fancy colored ribbons for hat trim, ming. The rear of the first floor is the department where less expensive hats are shown. Going up to the second floor one Going up to the second floor one sees another arrangement of millinery goods. On the east side of the room imported ostrich plumes, feathers, hand-painted wings, birds, tips, flowers, velvets and silk mings are in great abundance. other side of the room infants' ware, hand embroidered, occupies quite a space, and is admired very much by the married ladies. Upon tables down the center of this floor are boxes and boxes of ribbons and untrimmed straw and felt hats that look as though they cavied those in another par of the room that were so handsomely finished and attracted so much attention. Brown gray and steel colors seem to be the prominant shades for trimmings this fall. Enough cannot be said of Mr. Enrenhart's grand mil linery opening, and his promptness in getting the newest and most stylish feshions for the ladies direct from the importers and manu-
